

Learning Map Skills

As you grow and become more independent you will need to learn to find your way around the community. Learning to read maps is important because it enables you to locate the places and things that help you live your life. You will encounter many different forms of maps around the community such as maps of schools, maps of the local shopping center, and maps of your city or state. Using the sample map below, locate some of the important resources in the neighborhood.

Note: Above the map you will find a "Map Key" informing you what the letters and symbols represent.
